The war department has put its foot down on Army officers endorsing cigarettes. The department holds that these endorsements are cheapening to the uniform.

We often wonder how many people fall for these endorsements of cigarettes. It strikes us that a man will smoke a certain brand of cigarette because he likes the taste—and not because John Somebody endorses them.

A certain organization selling a cigarette lighter, poked fun at endorsements in its ads. They would take a picture of a large crowd of people, draw a white circle in the middle of the picture and announce that John Smith, shown in the circle, always uses the so and so lighter. And the picture would be so indistinct that one could never see this John Smith.

It is remarkable the ignorance shown by citizens in regards to military affairs. For instance yesterday we were talking to a man when a regular from the third division passed us on the street corner. The man remarked, "Huh, that soldier tore his coat sleeve there on the shoulder." So we had to take time out to tell him that the coat wasn't torn, but that the white patch he saw on the shoulder was the divisional insignia.

The American Legion can be highly lauded for its work in aiding sports for boys. Its junior baseball teams and its football team are shining examples of its work.

Richmond has always been noted for its sports. We have every type of game during the season. Our amateur baseball teams are in action summer and winter. In winter and spring our city cage league and our high school basketball teams are in action. During the fall the high school and American Legion football teams play.

And Richmond turns out some first class players in every line of sport—baseball, basketball, football and tennis.

The Richmond tennis club is rated highly by tennis experts on the coast. Next Sunday the local tennis team will meet an Oakland team at the city hall courts in what is expected to be a fast game.

And don't forget our golf—Berkeley country club and the Carquinez courses, being two of the best golf links in the bay region.

And then there is our peerless golf courses. But why bring that up?

U. S. Building On Increase

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Prospective building conditions throughout the United States as reflected by official reports of building permits issued in the 577 leading cities and towns showed an improvement in September over the preceding month, according to S. W. Strauss & Co., today September volume of permits was $168,254,345 against $161,609,331 in August, a gain of 4 percent.

This gain is significant, says Strauss, in view of the fact that normal seasonal factors call for a decline of more than 9 1-2 percent between the two months. Another encouraging factor in the September situation is the fact that although permits fell 28 percent behind the corresponding 1929 month, many of the larger cities went ahead of their volume of September, last year.

TROOPS GUARD MISSOURI CITY IN NEW RIOTS

STE. GENEVIEVE, Mo., Oct. 15.—UPI—National Guardsmen mounted machine guns on Ste. Genevieve's ancient courthouse tonight and patrolled the streets with fixed bayonets to prevent a threat aimed attempt to liberate nine suspected members of a mob which attempted to lynch the town's only remaining negro citizen.

The rest of the negro population fled after three negroes aroused feeling to high pitch by murdering one white man and wounded another. Only Louis Ribeau, veteran negro mail carrier, dared to remain despite assurances of Guardsmen that all would be protected.

Selected to lead the campaign as general chairman of the men's division is W. W. Scott. Assisting him will be Charles S. Renwick. Associated with Scott and leading the women's division will be Mrs. Earle L. Scofield. Selection of committee chairmen to aid these leaders is expected to be named in a few days.

At the same meeting allocation of the $27,141.67 budget to the six agencies of the chest was endorsed by the executive committee, after this study of the proposals for the past several weeks.

The budget for the year 1930-31 as approved by the executive committee last night gave the Y. M. C. A. $9,865.67; Boy Scouts $4,882; American Red Cross $4,127; Salvation Army $4,417; Girl Scouts $600; Camp Fire Girls $200. To the sums allocated by the six agencies which totals $24,091.67, five persons were added for possible shrinkage totaling $1,250 and $1,800 allowed for estimated administrative, organization and campaign expenses, which also includes office expenses.

It was explained following the meeting that the sum allotted the American Red Cross will be increased if the El Cerrito district consents to combine their forces in the coming drive. Word is awaited the invitation sent that district to combine with Richmond in the Community Chest activity.

Officers of the board of directors elected for the ensuing year were: T. H. DeLap, president; Frank M. Chandler, vice-president; Clark L. Barger, treasurer; and Mrs. Verna Lovdal, secretary pro tem. Mrs. Lovdal is well known Red Cross worker and secretary in the Community Chest campaign headquarters will hold the secretaryship of the board of directors until a permanent person is selected, it was stated.

Actual organization of the campaign workers is expected to be complete in the near future, and plans for the concerted drive to make the organization the success it forebodes is promised at an early date.

KIWANIS HEAR KEY PRESIDENT

Improvement of its service to Richmond and East Bay residents is the desire of East Bay Street Railway company, A. J. Lindberg, president announced yesterday in his talk to the Richmond Kiwanis club.

His topic was "Transportation Problems" and during its presentation the speaker told of the need of his company for $500,000 worth of new equipment. But with street cars costing in the neighborhood of $50,000 on cash terms the company is faced with a problem of raising the necessary money for the purchases, he said.

Betterment of the service without raising the fares is the plan of the company, Lindberg announced, and the only way that it can be done at the present time, he said, was by the reduction of overhead. No specific promise for better service was made by Lindberg but he announced a steady improvement whenever it is possible.

The meeting held in Hotel Carquinez was headed by J. W. Smiley. During the noon session John Tofoli entertained with several accordion solo. A. E. Soule was awarded the prize for attendance.

Among those securing a license yesterday, press dispatches said, were Vivian E. Cook and Elva Mercer, both residents of Richmond. Cook's address is given as 1320 Pennsylvania avenue, but the residence of his bride-to-be could not be learned. Cook gave his age as 23, while his fiancee's age was given as 22.

Man Shoots Self,
Drives Five Miles

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—UPI—After he had shot himself in the mouth in a suicide attempt, Thomas McManus recalled he hadn't told his wife goodby, he told police.

He drove his automobile five miles back to his apartment from the Edgebrook forest preserves, but collapsed as he staggered into the room where his wife had just returned from winning a gold medal.

McManus said he was driven to the suicide attempt because he couldn't earn enough money to maintain his household.

Informed that a house was afire in the vicinity of Fourteenth street and Macdonald avenue late yesterday, Richmond fire department rushed to the area to find a small grass fire blazing in the rear of Travillini's furniture store at that location. A garden hose directed by the fire fighters soon had the blaze under control. No damage was reported.

HIDEOUT OF BANDIT IS FOUND

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 15.—UPI—The body of "Little Jake" Fleagle, the west's most notorious outlaw who vowed he would die with his boots on, tonight lay in a morgue here awaiting return to his ranch home on the plains of western Kansas.

Fleagle, whose career of crime was culminated by robbery of a Lamar, Colo., bank two years ago, when four men were murdered, died at 9:55 a. m., today. For 24 hours the bandit, wounded in the abdomen yesterday when he walked into a trap officers had set for him at Branson, Mo., sought desperately for his life.

"Boys, I'm going to the boneyard. I've robbed my last bank,"

Fleagle said to his guards;

"I wish mother would hurry up and get here. I'd like to see her; before I close my eyes."

Sudden Death

"Who was the red-haired guy who bumped me off?"

He lapsed into unconsciousness and died soon after confessing to only one of the many murders, bank robberies and mail train thefts. He is known to have committed. He told officers he, and not his brother Fred, was the man who robbed the bank at Larne, Kan., two years ago. Fred went on trial yesterday for the crime.

Mrs. Fleagle, whose four boys all have run afoul of the law, telephoned officers today, asking that her son's body be returned to Garden City, Kan., his home, for burial. Ralph Fleagle was hanged in the Colorado state penitentiary for participation in the Lamar robbery. Walter is in jail for tax evasion. Fred now is on trial for bank robbery.

The hide-out of Fleagle and other fugitives was found hidden deep in the Ozark mountains about Branson. Officers found a complete arsenal, including high-powered rifles, revolvers and a large quantity of ammunition, hidden in the walls.

Hideout Found

The cabin, believed to have been used as a hide-out by other fugitives, contained a large supply of food, medical kits and bandages, and several complete changes of clothing.

The investigators, led by Lieut. Harry N. Wilde, west coast police officer who was credited with wounding Fleagle, failed to find the bandit's money cache. Fleagle was thought to have committed several bank robberies in the section and to have hidden his money near his mountain cottage.

"You've got to get up," yelled the brakeman. "We're switching this car and you'll be stranded out in the yards somewhere."

"But I'm sleepy," shouted Clara through the door. "And I'm not going to get up."

The trainmen and the station agents went into conference, finally decided to switch the car with Clara asleep inside. The photographers never did get their picture, the engineer missed his breakfast, the messenger boys didn't get to glimpse the fair Clara, and Clara, presumably asleep, toured most of Chicago's railroad yards before her car finally reached the Twentieth Century of the New York Central to go clattering on to New York, where she will start a new picture.

HIGH GRIDDERS TAKING REST THIS WEEK

Fisherman Is Caught By Huge Fish

ONTARIO, Oct. 15.—UP—Paraphrasing a journalistic bromide: When a man catches a fish, it isn't news, but when a fish catches a man...

Simon Powers, an Ontario postman, is the hero of this story and his exploit rivals that of a certain Noah.

Powers was having a fling at deep sea fishing off Ensenada, one of the boats which cater to sea-going nimrods. Beside him on the deck of the ship stood a Japanese. There was no rail on the boat at this point.

Both were engrossed in the sport of luring big fish to their hooks and failed to notice that Powers' feet had become entangled in the heavy line of the Japanese.

They got strikes simultaneously and began hauling in the fish. Suddenly the fish at the end of the Oriental's line leaped from the water. It was a large shark.

In his surprise, the Japanese dropped his line. The shark sped away and the postman unexpectedly followed, feet first. Before the end of the line could be jerked from the boat however, someone tied it securely.

This quick act probably saved Powers' life, for otherwise he would have been dragged far below the surface and drowned before he could extricate himself. As it was, the shark lashed about on a couple hundred feet of line with Powers entangled midway, at times 20 feet under water. Rescuers in a small boat helped him to get clear of the line and after the water was pumped from his lungs, Powers was none the worse for his experience.

Angels Beat Stars 20-6 Acorns Lose

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP—Hollywood and Los Angeles teams that will meet next week to decide the Pacific Coast league pennant and a purse of $10,000, had an abundant amount of batting and fielding practice today. The clubs are opposing each other in the final series of the ninth, which was what counted.

regular playing season and today the Angels devoted their efforts to hitting while the Stars had a good workout in the field. The score was 20 to 6. Los Angeles making five in the first, four in the sixth, five in the seventh and six in the ninth.

In other afternoon contests the Missions beat the Seals, 5 to 4, in a 10-inning game and Seattle made hits count to defeat Oakland, 4 to 3. The Oaks had twice as many hits but the Indians scored once in the first of the ninth, which was what counted.

LOCAL DEMOLAY CAGERS WIN CONTEST

Richmond Demolay basketball team lost its first league game last night when they met the Washington chapter of Haywari's team in Oakland high school. The score was 17 to 10.

Two games have been won by the Richmond outfit in the Demolay league. Next Tuesday the team will take on the Fruitvale chapter's team at McClymonds high school, Oakland.

Players in last night's game were: Chester Thompson, center; Ray Melin and Carl Johnson, forwards; Carl Drexel and Mike Sanfilippo, guards. Substitutes were: Elfred Jewel, forward; Harry Transue, guard; and Wade McCain, center.

The jury deliberated six hours.

Fred Fleagle's attorneys contended "Little Jake" robbed the bank. Witnesses testified that there was a close resemblance between Fred and his brother.

Before he died, "Little Jake" confessed he robbed the bank and that Fred was innocent.

Jimmie Duffy Wins Contest

OAKLAND, Oct. 15.—UP—From the third round until the last of the tenth, Jimmie Duffy, 149, local boxer outpointed Paul Auberlin, 147, of France to gain a decision here tonight.

SUNDAY GRID GAMES PROVE POPULAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP—Sunday football has proved a complete success here, and Kezar stadium in Golden Gate park, adopted by three Catholic colleges located in the San Francisco bay region for all their home games, is attracting thousands of fans each Sabbath day this fall.

Granting that Army and Harvard Alabama and Tennessee, Dartmouth and Columbia, and Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, to mention a few, will create plenty of excitement, Notre Dame and Carnegie should surpass them all in thrills.

A national championship may ride on that game Saturday and nobody knows it better than Knute Rockne and Judge Steffen, the rival coaches.

Carnegie Tech, by the way of warning to the Irish, defeated George Tech last week, 31 to 0.

Tennessee and Alabama should provide a most lively afternoon's entertainment down in Tuscaloosa, Tennessee, unbeaten in three years must get licked sooner or later and Alabama, playing in its own back-yard, looks like the team to do it. Tennessee is badly crippled, while Alabama is in the best of shape.

The affair at Cambridge will bring together two untried elevens. Army looked good against Furman and Swarthmore, but that means nothing; Harvard seemed strong against the Coast Guard and Springfield, and that means less. Saturday will mark the first time either eleven has met real opposition and the outcome is a tossup.

Pennsylvania boasting a 40 to 0 victory over Virginia, travels to Madison to meet a Wisconsin eleven that holds a 34 to 0 decision over Chicago. Wisconsin is a favorite, but Gentle and company might win.

Michigan State vs. Colgate, another east-midwest contest, should provide plenty of football. Colgate, with the exception of Louisiana, has scored more points in three games than any other team in the country, while Michigan State displayed real power in holding Michigan to a scoreless tie.

BLIZZARDS IN NORTH WEST

Northwestern United States was held in the grip of winter's first blizzards today with prospects that the storm might soon reach the middle west.

Blanketed with snow blizzards swept over the Rocky Mountain states which brought drops in the thermometer to as low as 20 degrees. Montana registered 20 while Yellowstone Park reported a temperature of 22 degrees.

Large areas of Washington, Oregon, and Montana were covered with snow. Autoists unaware of the approaching storms were marooned. A caravan of 100 cars was held up by the blizzard in Snoqualmie pass in Kittitas county, while 90 other machines were reported blocked in Dry Creek Hill in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Suffering from cold was also reported in these areas where autoists were held locked in by the snow.

The average temperature in the blizzard areas was reported as about 32 degrees.

Fred Fleagle Freed By Jury

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Governor of three Mexican states and the wife of a fourth gathered here with other delegates today to lay plans for an international Pacific highway from Nogales, Ariz., through Mexico City to Guatemala.

More than 30 Mexican delegates, including road engineers, represented the nine states through which the road must pass between the border and Mexico City.

Work Insurance
Hit By A. F. L.

BOSTON Oct. 15.—UP—The American Federation of Labor resolved at its convention here today to refuse to adopt any of the proposals calling for enactment of nation wide employment insurance. All were referred to the executive council for study.

Sentiment of the labor leaders was summed up in the declaration of President William Green, that "the American workers, proud of their freedom are not yet willing to make themselves the wards of state and government."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Formal announcement that the Southern Sierra Power Co. of Riverside has been awarded the contract for furnishing power for the construction of Hoover Dam was made today by the Interior Department.

It was awarded on the basis of the cost of 2.009 cents per kilowatt hour, based on a maximum demand of 10,000,000 kilowatt hours, delivered during a five and one-half year construction period. The estimated total cost to the government is $1,730,000, not including the cost

There has been a tremendous growth in gardening interest. In the past several years, she states, "Ten years ago the small house had no garden, it had merely a back yard. This supported a few straggling rose bushes, a row of Shasta daisies, some weeds and a flourishing colony of snails. Today everyone is interested in gardening and thousands of owners are justly proud of their lots."

Miss Christy will inaugurate courses in "The Small Garden" this week. A San Francisco class will start tomorrow night at the Extension building, 540 Powell street, and one in Oakland will start Friday evening, October 17, at 1730 Franklin street. Enrollments will be open to the public, it is stated.

FIRST TRAIN USES S.P. BRIDGE

MARTINEZ, Oct. 16.—Southern Pacific's first train to cross over its new $12,000,000 bridge near this city had made the trip today bearing five coaches, a baggage car and an official car in which C. R. Harding, assistant to Paul Shoup, president was the highest company official.

"The Governor" passed over the bridge at 11:45 a. m. inaugurating the bridge's use, and replacing the train ferries that have served the company for the past 50 years. Formal opening of the bridge will be held November 1 when officials from the company and surrounding communities will gather for the event. Trains running over the span until that time will be known as test trains.

Included in the program of November 1 will be the appearance of the engine C. P. Huntington, known as Southern Pacific Engine No. 1, which will head a modern train over the steel structure. Memories of pioneer railroad days will be recalled by the fete and tribute paid to the builders and their activities in developing the west.

New Bridge

The ferries that will be put out of commission with the formal dedication of the new bridge are the "Solano" and "Contra Costa." The former was commissioned in 1879 while the Contra Costa went into service in 1914. These boats have long been known as the world's largest ferries.

Program which will formally dedicate the new structure will be started shortly before noon Saturday, November 1. Southern Pacific officials announced.

"Martinez-Benicia" will be the christened name of the bridge when a queen to be selected will officially perform the ceremony after the C. P. Huntington has crossed the bridge leading a modern train. Master of ceremonies will be James Ralph Jr., mayor of San Francisco, who will introduce United States Senator Samuel Shortridge, who will deliver the principal address, and Paul Shoup, president of the company who will speak for his concern.

Program Set

At the same time it is announced plans are under way for the holding of motor boat races in Suisun bay and the formal dedication of Clyde airport at Martinez. Fifty army and navy fliers are expected to be present to participate in this event. This show is planned to take place at 10 o'clock, preceding the formal bridge ceremony.

A fireworks' display scheduled for 7:30 that night with dancing and carnival features is expected to close the day. Special railroad rates will be offered persons wishing to attend the event, according to E. W. Clapp, general passenger traffic manager of the company.

Girls Club To Visit At U. C.

The Girls Physiology club of Richmond Union High school will this afternoon visit the new physiology laboratories of the University of California. The group will be directed by Mrs. Aileen Brandon, faculty adviser of the club. The trip is the first of a series designed to cover the leading institutions of research and public welfare in the eastbay.

Longfellow School Plans Play Here

Members of the cast were: Lou, Melva Williams; Sophie, Evelyn Overaa; Pauline, Juanita Harrington; Tramp, Marguerite Walker.

POLICE GUARD BERLIN IN RIOTS

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—UP—Heavy police guards maintained order today as 120,000 metal workers went on strike and the Reichstag and Prussian Diet met in separate stormy sessions.

The city was quiet tonight, two minor clashes occurring among the crowd including the strike area. Police intervened and quickly restored order.

Eleven of the Fascists arrested in Monday's riots, when shop windows were broken and police stood, were given jail sentences today. The others, admonished, were released.

New Elections

In the Reichstag, Paul Loebe, Socialist, was re-elected speaker over Ernst Scholz, the Fascist candidate. In the final ballot, Loebe received 269 votes, and Scholz 209. The balloting took place amid shouts and stormy scenes which have become almost customary in the erstwhile dignified parliament.

Loebe, seeking to speak during the debate, had constantly to ring the speaker's bell in order to get brief moments of silence. The session was not as rowdy as the opening meeting of this fifth Reichstag under the republic, on Monday, but Communists and Fascists on the floor and sympathizers in the galleries caused almost constant commotion and disorders.

Loebe's election slightly relieved the political tension and revived the government's hope of survival. The election meant a serious reverse for the newly powerful Fascists in the Reichstag, where their strength, however, with 107 seats, is still feared by the coalition administration of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning.

No Split

The Fascists had hoped, through the election of their candidate, Scholz, to cause an irreparable split between the Socialists and the government. The Socialists, however, although vacillating, continued to support the Brüning administration.

The streets in the vicinity of the Reichstag resembled an armed police encampment as the session convened. Police, afoot, mounted and in motor vans, patrolled the neighborhood. Everyone passing within the cordon, including the deputies, was subjected to inspection.

The Fascists wore civilian clothes today instead of the brown shirts in which they appeared Monday, and were on the whole more quiet, although boos and hisses from them and the Communists frequently disturbed the session.

In the Prussian Diet, state legislative body of Prussia, the deputies exchanged insults as they debated a Fascist motion to dissolve the Diet.

Every Wife Discovers a New World

COLUMBUS DAY is Discoverer's Day, when with speech and song and story we are all engaged in congratulating the shade of Columbus for discovering a New World. Even though he never set eyes on this special section of America which so often and so innocently takes over the name of the whole continent.

Far be it from any woman to grudge glory to Columbus—

Especially since he was one of the many men who got where he did owing to a feminine assist—

All the men rulers turned him down, you remember, And it was a woman, Queen Isabella of Spain, who sold her jewels

And thus made possible the financing of his voyage of discovery.

Nevertheless, on the birthday of the man who discovered a New World, Women may reflect that a new world is what each of them sex.

Has discovered, is discovering and will discover whenever, for the first time in her life, she takes unto herself a husband.

Every wife discovers a new world when she discovers what has been for her heretofore the uncharted continent of Man—

No amount of reading about him, listening to Mother, even flirting with him.

Really prepares her for her personally conducted tour of discovery after the wedding day.

Even then she begins to map out the male she has married.

And she goes on making discoveries so long as they both do live.

One of the first notable landmarks thrust upon her notice.

In the new world, which as a bride she is exploring

Is that it is a world where nothing is quite as important as FOOD!

We simply do not believe that to any woman alive—

Even to the most talented and assiduous cook—

Food matters as much as it does to practically every man.

The proof is that, when even the good cook is alone in the house, she does not bother to prepare a regular meal.

But lunches on what's in the refrigerator and is perfectly satisfied.

To a man, on the contrary, food is a rite, a vital issue—

Both in quantity and in quality.

When a man is hungry she eats unless she is dieting.

But when a man is hungry—and when is he NOT?—he must partake of a full-sized meal.

With every dish suited to his individual taste, perfectly prepared, meticulously served.

If a man dislikes lamb stew and rice pudding

Clouds like a thundercloud descend upon the house, should one of these dishes inadvertently appear.

No matter how good the excuse—

That the cold lamb has to be eaten up, that rice pudding is healthy for the children.

To a man, a burnt biscuit, a chop potato, seared at the edges, a sandwich is a trivial error—it is a tragedy.

Many a woman would rather eat sandwiches and look at a sunset

Than dine on the proverbial stalled ox, if she has to miss the sunset in order to make the gravy—

However, she will soon learn that sunsets may come and sunsets may go.

But steak is what a man wants for dinner—

And he doesn't want to have to wait for it, either—

He may be late for dinner, but dinner may never be late for him!

Another discovery which every woman soon makes in the new world of married life.

But, no matter how much her husband praised her before he was her husband.

Afterward her chief value to him is that she is somebody to blame when things go wrong.

If she picks up her belongings and runs away—

The disorderliness of the male is a discovery she makes almost as quickly.

As that of his passion for food—

If she tries to be neat for two, then she's always "hiding things."

And he "does wish she'd leave his things alone."

On the other hand, if she is no pick-up of his unconsidered trifles,

Then she's "no housekeeper," and the house looks like a pigpen.

If she reminds him that Welsh rarebit at eleven p.m. usually disagrees with him.

And that he'd better take his umbrella to the office, since it looks like rain.

Then she's a nagger and a backseat driver.

If she says nothing and lets him get caught by rain or indigestion,

Then he wants to know indignantly, why didn't she tell him what would happen?

Why didn't she remind him?

A man can't think of all these things he has too much on his mind!

A woman, on the other hand, has nothing to do except lie around the house all day!

There are many other little discoveries which a woman makes—

For example, that she may be mentioning near three hundred and sixty-four days out of three hundred and sixty-five.

And if, on the three hundred and sixty-five day, she appears with the hem of her skirt ripped,

That's what her husband notices.

She discovers that he is often tired to do what she wants him to do.

But that he always expects her to join in any impromptu plan of his;

That he dislikes contradiction, but positively loathes it.

When the disputant can prove him wrong.

That he never wants to get up in the morning.

That he is cross if he misses a Sunday afternoon nap.

That he robes the icestheat at ungodly hours, and forgets to shut the door;

That he frequently repeats the same funny story;

And expects her to be just as much amused, no matter how often she hears it.

THE RAZOR BLADE SCRAPER

ONE housewife found it difficult to handle the razor blade when scraping the paint from the windows. The man of the house had read somewhere that a sharp clothes pin makes a convenient razor blade handle. So he adjusted a clothes pin to a hand tool for various uses.

If you try it, the upper lever of the clothes pin will serve as a give a firmer grip. You better drive it into the other lever.

IF YOU ARE A LOVER OF LACES

IF you are a lover of laces you are bound to wear them sometimes. To the right is a picture of a woman wearing laces. They may be too so too results to them to the right they are the very "feathered" lines under the eyes.

THE woman who must wear glasses should take great care to avoid selecting those which look too big and heavy for her face, as illustrated at left. The haggard lines under the eyes are repeated by the uneven curve of the heavy rims, while the eyebrow line is repeated by the upper curve, accentuating both very unflattering. The smaller octagonal glasses at right are a good choice for this type. They are cleverly designed to hide part of the eyes.

For instance, we will assume that you have grape or English ivy, Oregon grape or evergreen privet with all its rich, shining green leaves. "But," says this gardener, "not one of these can be counted upon to grow well in our climate, although these are of great things the most commonly being used. In any case, they are not for amateurs."

Take the same position, rise, and still on the tips of your toes, allow yourself to sink slowly until you are sitting on your raised heels. Rise now slowly to your full height, the chief strain of you doing coming on your ankles and knees.

These two exercises will answer the question for you emphatically, whether your knee joints and your ankles are sufficiently lubricated or have been allowed to grow dry and brittle. If you will do this, so that they need to be limbed up, if the latter is the case it is good, sound advice to say "Limber up at once!"

Try lifting one knee, then the other all the while keeping the body well poised, and then try sitting down, then rise again, twisting the leg vigorously around from the ankle, and then similarly twisting the leg around from the knee, describing a wide a circle with it as possible.

THE COUNTRY HOME CURTAINS

AT HOME in the country, and nothing but ugly, heavy-fringed curtains for the windows? Oh, no! Surely if you managed to have this home in the country, you will be able to arrange the budget for the proper curtains. A pretty flowered pattern, Georgian in effect so that it recalls the charm of the English garden-enclosed home, would be attractive, colorful and timely in your suburban home.

MOST preparations for removing ink stains from fabrics are of oxalic acid, which is injurious to cloth because it attacks the fibre of the texture, as well as the color of the dyes used for dyeing the fabrics. The yellowish-white spot, resulting from an application of such preparations, is about as noticeable as the ink stain and will often produce a hole in the cloth after washing.

A solution of two parts (two tablespoons full) of cream of tartar and one of powdered alum, in two cups of warm water, is a safe preparation as it will not injure the cloth or remove a noticeable part of the dye in the fabric. It is used with blotting-paper and sponge the stain placed under the fabric and the sponge lightly saturated with the solution dabbed gingerly on the ink stain. Both sides of the cloth are treated in turn, if necessary.

After the stain has disappeared, the spot may be washed to remove the solution and using clean blotting-paper, the cloth can then be carefully washed free of the solution. If the fabric is next quickly dried between two pieces of blotting-paper, there need be no mark or stain to show that an ink-stain had been removed.

By mixing the cream of tartar and alum in the same proportions, it can

THE RODNEY BINKS MURDER CASE.

(A Detective Story to End All Detective Stories)

SYNOPSIS of what has gone before: Rodney Binks, a millionaire, was found dead in his library. Hilo Jack, the super-detective, was called in on the case, and that's all you need to know.

Hilo Jack pondered a moment. "This white handkerchief is what acrobats use for drying their hands between their feats."

"Just a minute!" roared Sergeant Hennessy. "What's this you're raving about—dry—drying their hands between their feats?"

"Between their feats of strength and skill, you numbskull," barked the great detective. "H-m-m, now I'm in a quandary. Were you ever in a quandary, Hennessy?"

"If it's a place where you get married and granite, I never was," Hennessy asserted.

"Thank you," said Hilo Jack softly. "Now let me reconstruct this crime. A pair of acrobats murdered Rodney Binks and after accomplishing their dark work they tossed the handkerchief back and forth to each other to dry their sweating hands."

"Hold on a minute," snapped the district attorney. "First an accordion player killed Rodney Binks, and now it's a couple of acrobats. You go to the popular pyramidal forms."

Should neither of these make a sufficiently strong appeal, there are several species of acrobats that are a bit hard to possess and to train. One is called the Bidwell and grows with great density; the other, the tube shrub, which grows as its name intimates, in tubular form. Each of these highly satisfactory shrubs for indoor as well as outdoor growth are the most commonly being used. In any case, they are not for amateurs.

It's probably what I'm pondering on now," admitted Hilo Jack. "Maybe it was trained seals that dashed its brains out, the accordion player that pumped poison in his stomach, the acrobats that shot him through the heart," suggested Hennessy. "And they could all have escaped by taking a brick and winging out of the place and pretending they were a gang of acrobats and dancing act going to their next stand."

"Look here, Hilo Jack," snapped the district attorney. "You are wasting your time. You are not going to find any acrobats or an accordion player or an acrobat or a seal that has been killed by a bullet. For the simple reason that even if you caught your man, you couldn't prove either entered or left this library, because every door and window is double-locked."

"Not so," said Hilo Jack. "Accordian Player, that is very true," said Hilo Jack evenly. "I adopted my original theory just to exercise my mind. But a full half hour ago I mentally freed this phantom suspect because THERE NEVER WAS AN ACROBAT OR ACCORDION PLAYER WHO OWNED A CAMEL'S HAIR COAT."

"Then we're back where we were in the first place," said District Attorney Glutz. "In other words, stumped!"

"Natural causes!" exploded Glutz. "What are the natural causes?"

Energy in Charm

THERE was a day when the languishing Lydia had all the boy friends. A day when it was smart to swoon and "ladylike" to flutter and grow pink. But, as we need not tell you, today's belle is a creature of vitality, a female vibrante a girl who can laugh at the gaff.

This girl's life is wholesomely founded on health and the control of one's energies. A lot of us know all about getting exercise. A lot of us have it, thanks to the exercise habit and the spinach custom, the whole wheat vogue and the pogo jump.

precious few have yet learned the fine art of conserving and controlling their energy. The majority of us just squander the precious stuff of which youth and charm are made.

Look at the people who "work" in the city, walk up and down, Face, neck, head and arms doing a duty that legs alone can manage both well and beautifully.

TOMBSTONE TO RELIVE ITS PAST

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Oct. 15.—UP—The glory of Tombstone's past—a rapid panorama of fighting and sudden death, of gaity and pleasure in wild abandon, of murderous Indians, stage coach robbers, cowboy episodes, Enzy tonks, and six-gun battles—will live again as time is whizzed abruptly backward half a century.

Thousands of persons were here tonight on the eve of the city's 51st birthday celebration. For the next four days they will see in vivid reincarnation many of the great names of yester-year, the old characters who shot and galloped through innumerable pages of history and fiction.

Hard-boiled men of the long ago will walk the streets, swagger into saloons and gambling houses, stage gun battles, and live over again the lives of the raw and lawless west.

Such names as Earp-Clanton, O. K. Corral, Can Can Restaurant, Bucket of Blood and Tub of Suds saloons and Crystal Palace, were on the tongues of everyone tonight. Back to its faded glory of hair a century ago will come the Oriental saloon where the dauntless Wyatt Earp defended "Johnnie-Behind-the-Deuce" from a mob of 500 would-be lynchers.

The bloody Charleston claim jumping battles will be re-enacted, and the new generation will see the old Modoc stage held up, the guard "killed," and the Wells Fargo treasure box looted.

Once more, the angry citizenry will lynch an outlaw to a telegraph pole, and again will be re-enacted the street battles so numerous when Tombstone was the hustling mining camp of 14,000 souls.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," will be staged in the Bird Cage opera house, once the most famous variety house between San Francisco and New Orleans.

Roulette wheels will spin, chuck-a-luck and other games will run full blast in the historic buildings as they did in the hectic 80's.

Interest again abounds around the O. K. Corral, where the Earps and Claptons fought their epic gun battle, in which three were killed.

Customs and manners of 50 years ago have been rejuvenated, every effort has been made toward realism—and the banishment of the modern touch.

Zane Grey Mad At Arizona

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—UP—Zane Grey, author of numerous western novels, has ended a 20-year association with Arizona in a huff.

The writer said today he had been refused a permit to hunt pug-killing bears on his Arizona properties and was "insulted" in the refusal. As a result he will not go back to the state he used as a locale for many of his works.

It was understood that Arizona refused the permit because Grey had not proved that his intended prey was "predatory."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP—A curtailment of 33 1/3 percent in shipments of grapes from this state by shippers and growers affiliated with the California Grape Control Board was ordered for the remainder of the week by the clearing-house committee of the board today.

Not more than 1000 cars can be used a day on eastern markets at this time, it decided.

Five Held In S. F. Murder

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP—Five men were arrested here today after the midnight shooting that killed Raymond Stahl, 40, former convict and hold-up leader.

Stahl and two companions, said to be Harold Ferguson, 24, and Clarence Ferguson, 24, entered the drug store of Charles Conlon as he was closing Tuesday night. Conlon, suspicious before they walked in, called police and officers Tom Flanagan and Carl Bruhn responded.

The policemen trapped the three bandits while they were still in the drug store and claimed that while they were handcuffing the Fergusons, Stahl fired at them. Bruhn returned fire and one of his bullets penetrated Stahl's heart.

Radio Locates Missing Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—UP—Radio appeals today located Alma Phyllis Ross, 15, San Francisco school girl, on the steamer Ruth Alexander enroute to Seattle.

The girl was with her maternal grandmother, Mrs. James Proctor, and her father, Donald Ross, made a plea for local police to prevent Alma from being taken into Canada, where his divorced wife resides.

Ross claimed he was granted custody of the girl during divorce proceedings and that she has been happy in his home until Mrs. Proctor came several weeks ago. He said he refused her permission to take her girl away.

"Stop them at Seattle," Ross begged of Policewoman Katherine O'Connor. "If they ever get Alma across the line I'll never get her back."

The policewoman told him he could swear out a warrant charging kidnapping or ask the detention of his daughter as a runaway minor.

BURLINGAME, Oct. 15.—UP—Two students of the local high school clambered out of their mangled automobile at a railroad crossing near here today, examined themselves and found they had not been hurt.

The train stopped quickly after hitting the automobile and members of the crew hurried back to assist occupants of the car. Before they could arrive the boys had extricated themselves.

JONES SCORED, DEFENDED IN TALK

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 15.—UP—Opinions about Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington were expressed here today by Clarence Darrow, national known attorney and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, prominent dry worker.

Darrow, wet agnostic, declared that Senator Jones is "about through" and based his contentions on the fact that the senators "five and ten" law is a good example of what a man will do to keep from losing his position.

Dr. Wilson, however, declared that Senator Jones is the cleanest, best type of legislator, and pointed out that the senator was willing to abandon his own beliefs about prohibition in order to express the sentiments of the people.

"Senator Jones is about through I guess," said Darrow. "He's willing to do anything to hold his job. This five and ten business! Putting a man in jail for five years for having a pint of whiskey on his hip! Jones sprung that idea five years too late. A man that would propose a law like

"As for his statement that he will vote wet if the people of Washington want him to, I would say the same thing with this modification—that if it were ever necessary for me to vote against my convictions to obey the will of the people I would resign. Yes, if I had to vote against prohibition I would resign."

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—UP—With police little nearer to a solution of the attempted assassination than they were last Sunday, Jack "Legs" Diamond, racketeer, gained strength today at Polyclinic hospital.

Another X-ray of his collapsed lung was taken, indicating that hospital surgeons consider the wounded gangster sufficiently strong to undergo an operation. Two of the three bullets fired into his body in a room at the Montecito Hotel Sunday have not been recovered.

The investigation centered today in the offices of District Attorney Thomas C. Crain, where pretty Marian Roberts, show girl sweetheart of Diamond, identified a Greenwich Village racketeer as one of the persons who called on Diamond at the hotel last Friday.

Miss Roberts, who has admitted spending Thursday, Friday and Saturday night with Diamond at the hotel, scrutinized one after another underworld characters during the day, but could not remember having seen him.

First to be brought before her was "Dutch" Schultz, potent figure in Manhattan beer circles. Schultz was mentioned in the murder of Anna Urbas, sweetheart of Eugene Moran, a well known gunman. Miss Roberts said she had never seen him before and he was released.

Danny Crocco who walks with a rolling gait—a sort of a swagger—walked into the room and before Crain could ask Miss Roberts to look him over he addressed the girl:

"Hello there! I saw you in Diamond's room. How ya?"

Further questioning revealed that Crocco, who is said to be engaged in the night club racket, visited Diamond Friday.

"He talked just a few minutes," Crocco said. "Legs put me a proposition which I didn't like, so I left."

District Attorney Crain said he didn't attach any significance to Crocco's visit.

Crain spent most of today questioning John Ginsburg, the hotel manager, who is under $25,000 bail as a material witness in the case, and Wallace Bennett, a close friend of Ginsburg.

Miss Roberts was taken to Harlem prison, where she is being detained in default of $5000 bail, as a material witness.

Storm Forces Naval Pact Flier Down

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 15.—UP—Lieut. Edwin A. Woodring, arm's flier bearing the Japanese naval treaty, was forced down by a terrific snowstorm just outside of Laramie late today.

He arrived from Rock Springs, Wyo., where he and his companion, Lieut. William Caldwell, on the flight from Victoria, B. C., to Washington, D. C., to re-meet their planes.

Lieut. Caldwell was long overdue here. Airport officials believed he was forced down somewhere between Rock Springs and Laramie. Woodring said he battled a blinding blizzard virtually the entire distance, approximately 25 miles.

Although anxious concerning the safety of his companion, Lieut. Woodring ordered a quick inspection of his ship after he had been taken to the airport by automobile. He said he would resume the flight to Cheyenne as soon as the weather moderated.
